Give Program For Community Service

Dr. Edw. P. Cheyney, U. of P., Is Chief Speaker at Armistice Observance.

MISS BACON TO SING

Wohlert's Flowering Trees in Washington's Parks

Two hundred and fifty flowering trees, the gift of A. E. Wohlert, owner of the Garden Nurseries, Narberth, to the United States government, were accepted last week by Lieutenant Colonel U. S. Grant, 3d, director of Washington public parks.

It is understood that the trees will be used to replace those destroyed in the flood in the summer of 1928. The majority of them will be placed in East Potomac Park. It is also planned to place some of them in Anacostia Park.

Hoboes—Take Notice

On the evening of November 9 the Narberth Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian Church will be host to a convention of hoboes to be held in the social room. All members of the society and their friends are invited. Come and join the Royal Order of Hoboes! Wear your oldest duds and be present at this unusual gathering. An excellent program has been arranged.

Note—Only hoboes and tramps admitted.

Nationally-Known Men to Speak at Post's Annual Banquet Here on Monday Night

U. S. Commissioner of Education, Wm. J. Cooper, Associate of Hoover, on List.

DON ROSE COMING ALSO

Plans are complete for the annual banquet of the Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion, on Monday night at 7 o'clock at the Community Building. With an impressive list of speakers and a first-class caterer, a fine evening is in store for about two hundred and fifty of Narberth's men.

Heading the list of speakers is United States Commissioner of Education, the Hon. William J. Cooper, who will come direct from Washington for the banquet. Mr. Cooper was President Hoover's right-hand man on the coast and speaks with authority. His subject will be: "What Will the Armistice Mean Fifty Years Hence?"

Donald Rose, editorial writer on The Ledger and author of the sense and nonsense column in The Sunday Ledger, will be another member of the speakers' table. Mr. Rose's dry humor has carried his fame far and wide and it may be expected to flash with rapidity on Monday night.

The third speaker will be Frank A. Schrepfer, professor of Fine Arts at the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Schrepfer is a resident of Narberth and a war veteran.

Blackwell's famous Miami Charckians will supply the melody and McAllister will attend to the viands.

munity interests. The Narberth Library has always met this requirement. During the past year the Library had several exhibits in the Better Homes Week celebration. We co-operated with the Mothers' Council in having a Vacation Reading Club. On March 12 the first Story Hour was held. This work with the children was continued during the spring and summer with the exception of three weeks in August when the Librarian was on her vacation. The number of children who come, the attention paid and the interest shown have been encouraging.

I cannot close this report without expressing my deep appreciation of the assistance given me by everyone connected with the Library, especially of the support given by the members of the volunteer staff.

I must speak too of the loyalty and conscientious work of my assistant, Miss Clara Follette, who is untiring in her efforts to further the work of the Library. Our aim is not merely to have a collection of books but to make the Library the accepted center of the community's intellectual life. We heartily agree with Theodore Roosevelt who once said "After the Church and the School, the free Public Library is the most effective influence for good in America."—(By Mary B. Church).

Varied Program Presented at Annual Ladies' Night of Balcynor Club.

HAVE PRIZE DRAWING

Rotarians of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Club, their wives and guests were kept in a continual state of merriment by Judge George C. Corson, of the Court of Common Pleas, Norristown, with anecdotes of the courtroom, juries and lawyers on Monday night.

The occasion was the annual ladies' night of the Rotary Club. Guests included Everett E. Burlingame, president of the Main Line Kiwanis Club, and William T. McIntyre, president of the Ardmore Rotary Club.

In accordance with custom, Mrs. W. Russell Green, wife of the club's president, was presented with a gift. Ralph S. Dunne also conducted a drawing of prizes, there being one for each lady present.

Entertainment was furnished by the Hahnemann Medical College Orchestra. A humorous recitation was given by Hervey C. Keim, a member of the club.

Wives present included: Mrs. W. Russell Green, Mrs. W. L. Martin, Mrs. E. E. Burlingame, Mrs. W. T. McIntyre, Mrs. A. C. Shand, Jr., Mrs. R. T. Watrous, Mrs. E. N. Sullivan, Mrs. Guy Croyle, Mrs. Horace Smedley, Mrs. William Decker, Mrs. Hervey Keim, Mrs. Barclay Jones, Mrs. E. S. Hold Rummage Sale

The Girl Scout Rummage Sale will be held on Thursday, November 14, from 10 o'clock to 5 o'clock in a store on Lancaster Avenue, Ardmore, two doors from the Autocar factory.

Winter clothes for all members of the family will be a feature of this sale. Household articles will also be found as usual in this semi-annual sale.

Mrs. William Ashmead Dyer, of Ardmore, a member of the Main Line Girl Scout Committee, is in charge of the rummage sale, assisted by members of the committee.

Recipient of Medal

Isaac H. Clothier, Jr., of Radnor, was presented with a gold medal at a testimonial dinner on Monday night at the Bellevue-Stratford for his work in behalf of the Philadelphia Boy Council. Said its president, George W. Elliott, in making the presentation, "This man typifies all that we would expect a boy to be. A lover of clean sports and of clean living, and enthusiastic in the work he has done for the Boy Council, he exemplifies the ideal we are striving to hold forth to every boy."

Prussia offers the former Kaiser a farm. A fiendish type of punishment, indeed.

Community Health and Civic Association Shares Responsibility in Protecting Children From Diphtheria

"Though considerable effort has been made to secure the immunization of a greater number of pre-school children from diphtheria, the need for even more intensive work along this line is indicated," according to Dr. A. Lovett Dewees, Chairman of the Health Committee of the Community Health and Civic Association.

In line with the responsibility the association shares for the welfare of infant and pre-school groups, schick tests were recently given (at the four Child Health Centers) to 136 children who had previously received three doses of toxin-antitoxin. This is the method used in establishing immunity and the job of protecting children is not completed until the negative reaction of schick tests following toxin-antitoxin treatment gives the assurance of protection.

"As the majority of deaths from diphtheria occur among children under five years of age the importance of immunizing them against diphtheria cannot be too strongly emphasized," Dr. Drewes said. "This too is the age group when the percentage of protection resulting from the use of toxin-antitoxin is higher than among older children. The protection when once established covers the years of life when infection would otherwise be most likely to occur."

Narberth Branch of Guild Praised by National Head

The following letter from Mrs. Thomas J. Preston, national president of the Needlework Guild of America, to Mrs. A. H. Durboraw, president of the Narberth Branch, was read at the twenty-fifth anniversary meeting of the local branch last Wednesday:

Princeton, N. J.,
October 23, 1929.

Dear Mrs. Durboraw:

One need look no further than the closing words of your letter to me, "We do love our Guild's work," for the explanation of the success with which you are meeting in your Narberth Branch of the Needlework Guild. Your record is excellent and surely the affection for the work which now inspires you will help you to go on and on.

May each next year be your best, not only in numbers, but in the quality of your gifts and not only in these practical results, but in the spirit which actuates you, and may the joy in the hearts of those to whom you give be equalled only by the joy with which you give, and not only give (yourselves), but inspire others about you to join in your good works and so double your gift.

With every personal good wish as well as to your Branch, I am

Very sincerely,
FRANCES F. C. PRESTON, President.

Gladwyne to Be Scene of Special Legion Service

A special Armistice service for the Ardmore Legion and its auxiliary will be held at the Gladwyne Community Center on Sunday. The speaker will be the Rev. Ernest C. Earp, rector of the Church of the Redeemer, Bryn Mawr, who was a chaplain in the Canadian army during the war. The service will also be attended by the Boy and Girl Scouts of Gladwyne. Taps will be played by Cahill, champion bugler of the Main Line. Special music will be furnished by the junior choir, with George Russell and Walter Dyson as visiting soloists. The service was arranged by the Rev. William Powell, chaplain of St. Joseph's Protestant Episcopal Chapel, Gladwyne.

In Pawtucket, R. I., Dr. William Rotwell, 63, is known as a good physician, a generous host. For thirty years he has always reached for his wallet, always stood treat. Recently he ordered his tombstone. A great bowlder, it now stands ready in a local cemetery. His inscription: "This is on me."

Fellowship of All Saints Having Active Season

On Wednesday evening, October 30, the Young People's Fellowship of All Saints Church, Wynnewood, gave a Hallowe'en party at the Parish House. About fifteen couples danced to the five-piece orchestra that supplied the music for the occasion. Cider, nuts, and apples were served to fill everyone with Hallowe'en cheer. The Parish House was decorated with orange and black streamers and big black cat faces hung about the wall which gave proof of some hard work on the part of the committee to make the dance floor appropriate for the occasion. This is the first of a series of events which the Fellowship is planning to stage this season.

The Fellowship held its first meeting of the season on Sunday evening, October 13, in the Parish House. Many of the old crowd were back with friends. Every Sunday evening now the meeting begins at 6:30 P. M. and a light supper of delicious sandwiches and cocoa is served.

Because of the resignation of Robert Leitch from the presidency and Virginia Douglass from the office of treasurer, the last two meetings have been the scene of elections. Richard Gillis was elected president and Thelma Livingston was elected treasurer.

On Friday evening, November 22, the Fellowship is giving a card party at the home of Paul Lees in the Avon Apartments. Prizes will be awarded. The congenial good times we have at these parties assure it to be a success.

The Fellowship is planning a Christmas dance to be given at the Merion Tribute House some night during the Christmas holidays. Definite announcement about this holiday dance will be made soon.

Next Sunday, November 10, a light supper will be served before the business meeting. There will be an interesting speaker.

Penn-Wynne Notes

The Penn-Wynne Library Association, composed of residents of Overbrook-Hills-in-Merion and Penn-Wynne, has arranged a literary evening to be held this month in the Library Building at Manoa and Henley Roads, Penn-Wynne.

Clarence Tobias, of Penn-Wynne, a member of the faculty of the Friends' Central School, will deliver a talk on his recent airplane trip across Europe.

The association has started its second season of Wednesday afternoon bridge-teas which will be held weekly throughout the winter season. A bridge party has been arranged for November 26 in the display home of McWilliams & Maloney on Dorset Lane, Overbrook-Hills-in-Merion.

The Library Association has accumulated 400 books which are lent to residents of the two communities. The library is open on Monday afternoons and on Wednesday and Friday evenings. The proceeds of the card parties are applied to the purchase of books.

Needlework Guild Has 25th Birthday

Silver Anniversary of Narberth Branch Is Celebrated by Luncheon.

MANY GUESTS PRESENT

October 30 proved to be a gala day for the Narberth Branch of the Needlework Guild of America. It was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization which was celebrated by a delightful luncheon attended by Miss Rosamond K. Bender, national secretary; Mrs. Griffith and Mrs. Balderson, representing the Ardmore branch; Mrs. Palmer, president of the Haverford branch; Mrs. Trout, Brookline; Mrs. Lunn, Glenolden, and Mrs. Keichline, Gladwyne.

Letters were received from the presidents of the Glenside and Merion branches. A delightful message of commendation and congratulation was read from Mrs. Thomas C. Preston, the former Mrs. Grover Cleveland, national president of the Guild.

Another charming feature of the birthday was the reading by Mrs. John Van Ness of a poem written especially for the occasion by Robert H. Durbin. Mrs. Preston's letter and the poem appear elsewhere in this issue.

A beautiful basket of white chrysanthemums was sent by Miss Lurena Wallace in memory of her mother at whose home the Narberth Branch was organized and who became its first president.

Recognition of Mrs. A. H. Mueller's twenty-five years of service as treasurer was given by the Guild, presenting her with a beautiful bouquet of vari-colored flowers.

The afternoon session was opened with a devotional service led by the Rev. John Van Ness. A beautiful solo was sung by Mrs. Cletus A. Senft. Addresses by Miss Bender, Mrs. Griffith, were followed by congratulations by presidents of several local organizations. Mrs. W. Russell Green represented the Woman's Community Club, Mrs. C. H. Woolmington, the Mothers' Council; Mrs. Fred Derby, the King's Daughters, and Miss Emma Mueller, the American Legion Auxiliary.

Miss Martin, of the Main Line Visiting Nurse Association, gave a short talk and demonstration of the sort of layette the nurses found most practical.

Four new directors were announced at the session and 3217 garments were collected.

Addresses Rotarians

The Rev. Charles B. duBell, volunteer Red Cross worker, was the speaker at the Thursday luncheon of the Ardmore Rotary Club. His subject was "What the Red Cross Is Doing in Peace Time."

Tickets Available

Tickets for the Lower Merion-Norristown game are on sale at the Senior High School, and at Slavin's sporting goods store, 30 East Lancaster Avenue, Ardmore, according to word from the school authorities this week. The game is called at Norristown at 2:30 P. M. tomorrow.

FORE AND AFT

A new and interesting theatrical venture comes within our ken which numbers among its backers Mrs. Fitzwilliam Sargent, of Haverford, and Casper W. R. Townsend, of Merion. The organization, known as Professional Players, is modeled along the lines of the New York Theatre Guild. These uplifters have become more or less disgusted with the drama, and they are going to do their best to bring about a change. They will start their campaign in the Adelphi Theatre just before Thanksgiving Day. The plan is to give a season of twenty weeks of notable new plays, with well-known actors and experienced directors. The first offering will be "Death Takes a Holiday," translated by Walter Ferris from the Italian of Alberto Cassello. Philip Merivale, distinguished actor, who is well known in Philadelphia, will head the cast.

Last year the Professional Players was organized for the purpose of putting on new deserving plays in this city and inviting the New York producers to witness these offerings with a view to eventual presentation elsewhere.

This year, however, the Professional Players are anxious to greatly widen the scope of their activities. They have, therefore, leased the Adelphi Theatre and propose to offer there only the most artistic and worthwhile plays, both American and Continental. The venture will be in no way whatsoever an amateur proposition, the productions employing all professional talent. The season will, however, be differently handled than the average hit-or-miss commercial stage undertaking.

The Professional Players, led by Mrs. Upton Favorite and Mrs. Sargent, both energetic and talented, will inaugurate an intensive subscription campaign, by which they intend to reach all groups and individuals in this vicinity interested in the finer creative attempts of the drama. Seats will be sold separately and for the entire season of five plays. Matinees will be given Thursdays and Saturdays, and each play will be offered for four weeks.

* * *

The Hedgerow Theatre as a laboratory for Philadelphia dramatic talent is the interesting fact revealed by the production, next Saturday evening, November 16, of "The Star," by Beaumont Bruestle, at the Hedgerow Theatre, Moylan-Rose Valley, Pa. Mr. Bruestle, a Philadelphian, is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and is now an instructor at the university. The chief players in the production of "The Star" are also Philadelphians. Walter Hart, who plays the lead, is a law student at the University of Pennsylvania, and Kay Roma, the female lead, is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania.

Hedgerow's director—Jasper Deeter—has been director of the Dramatic Club of the University of Pennsylvania for several years, and it is this connection which seems to be making a veritable "cradle of dramatics" out of the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Bruestle, author of "The Star," is also an actor who played his first roles under Mr. Deeter's direction in the university's Dramatic Club, and later on appeared in the Hedgerow Theatre productions of Andreyev's "He Who Gets Slapped" and in Shaw's "You Never Can Tell."

Ferenc Molnar's "Liliom" is scheduled for Tuesday evening, November 12; Bella Cohen and Samuel Spewack's comedy "Sweeney" for Wednesday evening, November 13; Ibsen's "A Doll's House" for Thursday evening, November 14 ;A. A. Milne's "Mr. Pim Passes By" for Friday evening, November 15, and the first production this season of Beaumont Bruestle's "The Star" for Saturday evening, November 16.

Now that Mr. Ringling has eliminated competition in the circus field, we're afraid elephants will be smaller, giraffes' necks shorter and the world's fattest woman only about half as fat.

Coming Events

Two events in the near future of considerable interest are the Community Service on Sunday night at the theatre, held under the auspices of the Legion, and the Legion's annual banquet on Monday night.

The Community Service Sunday is becoming somewhat of a tradition and a most worthy one. Last year the Rev. Jack Hart, chaplain of the U. of P., was the speaker. This year an equally interesting one has been secured—Dr. Cheyney, also from the University.

The Post banquet on Monday night promises to be one of the best ever given in the borough to judge from the list of speakers. Don Rose, of The Ledger staff, is one of those droll fellows who say the funniest things with an absolutely straight face. He has been characterized as a near prototype to Mark Twain.

The Hon. William J. Cooper, U. S. Commissioner of Education, is a close associate and personal friend of President Hoover's.

A fine dinner is assured and an exceptionally interesting evening to all men who betake themselves to the Community Building on Monday night.

A National Flower

We learn that the Columbine Society is about to launch a nation-wide campaign in behalf of the columbine as a candidate for the national flower of the United States. A Harvard student is president of the society and an Ardmore woman, Mrs. J. M. Bradford, of 136 Coulter Avenue, is its honorary president.

Up to the present time, the Horticulture Magazine states, the wild rose has been far in the lead, but supporters of the columbine point out that the rose is already the national flower of England and Persia.

While we hold no brief for any flower, the arguments given for choosing the columbine by its adherents are:

The best species of aquilegia are indigenous to this country.
Columbines grow wild in every State of the Union.
Columbines never become weeds, but are choice garden flowers.
Columbines bloom on three national holidays—Decoration Day, Flag Day and the Fourth of July.
When used for decorations they last as long as the rose.
The flower may be readily recognized independently of its color.
The columbine has never been used by any other people as their floral emblem.
The flower is associated patriotically with this country as its name at once suggests Columbia, while the name aquilegia has been connected by scholars with the Latin aquila, meaning eagle. Furthermore the motto E pluribus unum is exemplified by the columbine leaf with its many segments, while the lobes of its terminal divisions are found to be thirteen in number like the stripes of our flag. The colors of the Star-Spangled Banner are shown by the red, white and blue varieties of aquilegia.

Anyone interested in lending his support to the movement is requested to get in touch with Mrs. Bradford.

Free Advertising

One of the greatest and many times most embarrassing problems that the weekly newspaper has to deal with is the request for free advertising.

While there are many newspapers that have justly banned the encouragement of this evil there are yet many others that either do not realize what they are doing or are afraid to refuse requests made by advertisers for free space. An advertiser or nonadvertiser has no more right to ask for free space in the columns of a newspaper than the customer of a retail establishment has the right to demand free goods with every article that he purchases.

Column-inches are the only commodity that a newspaper has to sell. To give them is to cheapen the value of both that newspaper's advertising power and the power of all others.

The fact that many advertisers go to the expense of writing and mailing and requesting use of free advertising only shows the value that they place on the columns of a newspaper as an advertising medium.

To have an advertiser withdraw all or part of his patronage because of the refusal of the management of a newspaper to grant a request that it cannot afford or accord to others is embarrassing but it is a course that will eventually serve to prove the selling power of the columns of that newspaper.—Rockwood, Tennessee, Times.

UNCLE CY'S COLUMN

New York.

Last week I had about a day in New York city. A day is quite enough. The city always amazes and depresses me and lets me come home delighted with the rural charms of our so-called "sleepy city."

My host up there was a Wall Street broker, and I have rarely listened to such harrowing tales of disaster and to such a mournful commentary on the instability of human judgment.

Undoubtedly the market was frightful, but, after all, the people who were crushed were those who were contributing nothing to prosperity or industry, who were speculating rather than investing, and who, because their activities were those of the gambler, had to suffer the gambler's fate and lose all on one hand.

Business should not be crippled; it should return to a normal point where the investment in stocks will secure a fair return in earnings rather than a speculative return due to the fluctuations of the market. Just as the foolish virgins carried lamps without oil, so the foolish speculators carried stocks without owning them. Today they are high and dry. I am sorry for them but they had it coming.

The people who buy now while the market is low and select securities of known good earning capacity and put them away as they would bonds, are those who will be saved heartaches when the next panic arrives, which I hope will be far off.

* * *

While I was over there I went down to the docks to meet a man whom I have not seen for some time. While I was waiting for him to get through the customs I observed the many strange creatures there. I believe that most of the customs officers are a friendly, decent lot who, if allowed to, will carry out their orders with as little friction as possible.

One incident brightened the waiting. About six feet from the gates there was a sudden crash of glass and a delicious aroma of spirits. Within a fraction of a second no one could be seen near the wreckage. Laughter was not confined to passengers alone; the customs guards roared too. Then some prim lady came along and the head guard asked, "Was that your bottle, madam?"

* * *

New York seems unreal and artificial to me. I cannot adjust my bucolic tastes to so much stone and concrete. It is merely a molehill, producing no living food, having no green verdure, and a temple to the conceit of man and the efficiency of machinery. The sensation of driving up a ramp above cross-traffic, around a balustrated, terrace-like drive, through a tunnel, down another ramp, and finally out of the Grand Central Station onto Park Avenue leaves me breathless.

* * *

Then there are the buses. I used to enjoy sitting a-top them and rolling and jolting up Fifth Avenue gazing down on the sleek motors and hurrying pedestrians. This week I found myself at 33d Street and had a luncheon engagement in twenty-five minutes at 49th Street. I elected to take a bus. We started and sat, then just sat while lights flashed green and red and green again. I was fifteen minutes late and returned in the Subway.

* * *

It has been years since I have used the Philadelphia subway, but I always do in New York. The types one sees are so grotesque. I wonder how they were bred and why they should be allowed to live. They are so ugly, so dirty, and so unkind in appearance.

* * *

Manhattan is full of taxis. I use them too much there and regret it. Here I think nothing of walking from Fifth to Twenty-second Streets, but there I am an old man needing to be carted about behind a clicking, leering meter.

* * *

After all of this visit, I am glad to be back, glad to be solvent, and hoping some day to die in the country.

Augustinians Hold Fortnight's Devotions at St. Margaret's Church

Two weeks of Missions concluded at St. Margaret's Church, Narberth, with a final service for men held 8 P. M. last Sunday. Night after night, and early morning as well, hundreds of devout Catholics attended the services, which were conducted the first week for women by Fathers Walker and McGrath, and the final week for men by Fathers Walker and McLeod, of the Order of St. Augustine, Villanova.

Services for women commenced Sunday morning, October 20, and ended at a special service 3 P. M. the following Sunday. Devotional gatherings for men began with a service Sunday night, October 27, and continued with 6 and 7 A. M. Masses, and 8 o'clock evening services. Special devotions for children commenced 4 P. M. Tuesday and continued Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Fathers Hayes and Walsh, of St. Margaret's, assisted the visiting Augustinians. The Missions are held to acquaint churchgoers and non-churchgoers with the essentials of the Catholic faith, to enhance their devotion and faith, and to remind them of their Christian obligations.

Throngs Attend Junior High School Gavel Day

Over 500 visitors, including the parents and friends of the Lower Merion Junior High School pupils, were present at the Annual Gavel Day ceremonies held at the Junior High auditorium Tuesday morning.

The usual chapel service was followed by Gavel Day ceremonies in which the newly-elected officers take over the duties of office.

Thomas Kennedy, of Bryn Mawr, was elected president of the student body; Cecelia Gray, vice president; Betty Raife, secretary; Dick Rockwell, treasurer, and Glenwood Rose, sergeant-at-arms.

Superintendent S. Edgar Downs was the speaker for the occasion.

Many of the parents visited the various departments of the school throughout the day.

Al Smith is getting $1 a word for his stuff and Calvin Coolidge $2 a word. Hoover sent 3000 words to Congress the other day and all he got for it was a rise out of Tom Heflin.

Lower Merion Meets Norristown Rival Tomorrow

Peters' 92-Yard Run Brings L. M. Victory

Seven-to-Nothing Win Over Abington Brightens Title Prospects.

WAS THE CRUCIAL TEST

By Tommy Macklin

The Head Hunters of Coach Adam wearing the Maroon of Lower Merion went out into the world last Friday in search of the scalp of one Abington team, and, friends, how well they fared can only be told by those who saw the thrilling finish of the fight.

The strong "Junior Yellowjackets" from the neighboring township looked good; in fact, they looked mighty good, until the last moment of the game, when our speed hound, Tip Peters, awoke to the fact that he must get busy if Lower Merion was to continue in the vanguard of suburban football in 1929. Tip ran 92 yards for a touchdown, and young Harry Frazier nonchalantly kicked an extra point for one of the sweetest moments and one of the nicest little victories that a Lower Merion team could get.

"Big Boy" Funke, star plunger on the Abington team, threw his last forward pass of the game in the wrong direction, and thus did Captain Scott and his mates win an all-important game.

There were those who returned from the game who said "mighty lucky." But they forget that a team with the fighting heart that Lower Merion has on the gridiron this year is not going to be easily defeated nor held in check for long. If they meet teams which are stronger, and they have and probably will, they are to be doubly congratulated for winning in spite of the odds. Lower Merion well deserved her victory of last week against a physically stronger team. The Maroon had the brains and the wit to pull the game out of the fire. It isn't every player who can run with the old pigskin for 92 yards for a touchdown, and it isn't every team that can take out the opposing players as Lower Merion's two ends did in that mighty last-minute effort. Lockwood and Hansell spilled the two boys who had a chance to catch Peters and to them goes part of the credit for that wonderful play.

To the victor belongs the spoils, and the glory of last week's work which thrilled hundreds of Lower Merion rooters certainly rests on the shoulders of a mighty game team from Ardmore, Pa.

Football Schedule

Today

Haverford School vs. Penn Charter at Haverford.
Montgomery School vs. Friends' Central at Wynnewood.
Episcopal Academy vs. Chestnut Hill Academy at Overbrook.

Tomorrow

Lower Merion vs. Norristown at Norristown.
Haverford College vs. Hamilton College at Haverford.
Villanova vs. Bucknell at Scranton.

Hero of the Game

Edward ("Tip") Peters, Jr., halfback of the Lower Merion eleven, whose interception of an Abington forward pass late in the fourth quarter and his sensational 92-yard run over the goal line, broke the tie, giving the Ardmore team a 7-to-0 victory, which virtually assures them the scholastic suburban title. Peters, who lives in Narberth, is shown above in his track uniform after breaking the Class A suburban pole vault record last May.

On the Gridiron

By Tommy Macklin

Montgomery School rose to great heights last week in their football game with Episcopal Academy at Wynnewood, and held the City Line team to a one-touchdown victory. Tom Slack, former Lower Merion High School player, scored the winning points by racing twenty yards after receiving a nice pass hurled by Jannison.

Coach Doug Crate's Friends' Central team won a close decision over Germantown Friends last Friday. The final score was 19 to 18 and was made possible by Mason's point after touchdown.

Radnor High School players are improving daily in their football lessons, and the manner in which they subdued the Lansdowne team last week shows that Lower Merion had best whet her appetite for a big meal on the 23d. This boy Lentz certainly has made a mediocre outfit look like the goods with his return to the lineup.

Upper Darby is coming along with a bang. Captain Scott and his mates meet this big blue team a week from tomorrow on alien territory and they will have a tough time taming that bunch of fighters.

Coach Cornog, of Haverford High, is quoted as saying that Lower Merion always starts her football season with a rush and sort of peters out as the season moves along to a close. Maroon players, take notice and prove that this is not so. Coach Cornog picked Abington to win, but, boys, there's always a spark left in some Lower Merion breast that won't call quits. Tip Peters was the guy last week at Abington, and Al. D'Amora did the work at Lansdowne.

Chestnut Hill defeated Haverford School in a close game at St. Martin's last week, score 13 to 7. Young Tilden, a cousin of William T. Tilden, the tennis star, scored the touchdown for Coach Wallace's pupils.

Main Line Boasts 4 Undefeated Teams

Villanova, Haverford, Lower Merion, Episcopal Make Enviable Records.

Football glory has come to the Main Line aplenty this season. To date it boasts of four undefeated elevens. Villanova College has not tasted defeat since the Bucknell game in 1927; Haverford College, led by its line-smashing fullback, "Egg" Morris, second leading scorer in the East, has won four straight games after having a 0 to 0 tie with Ursinus; Lower Merion High, by virtue of its sensational victory over Abington last Friday, looms as the Suburban scholastic champion; in the interacademic league, Episcopal Academy at Overbrook has not lost a game and is in a fair way to repeat its last season's championship.

The Villanova Wildcats, under the tutelage of Harry Stuhldreher, one of Rockne's original four horsemen at Notre Dame, have developed a crushing offense which has smothered Duke, Loyola, Oglethorpe (conquerors of Georgia, who in turn beat Yale), and now is out to twist the tail of Bucknell's Bisons at Scranton tomorrow. Johnny Gillespie, Villanova halfback, has gained wide recognition this year by his open-field running and line-plunging but to single out one man from such an able squad of footballers does the rest an injustice.

Haverford is having an unusually successful season. Probably the two people chiefly responsible are fullback Egg Morris and Coach Harvey Harmon. Morris has been skirting the ends, diving off tackle and doing everything that a first-rate back is expected to do and doing it well. The rest of the team, however, bears witness to the effective coaching of Pitt's former All-American.

To turn from collegiate to scholastic elevens, Lower Merion not only is undefeated this season but has yet to have its goal line crossed. Its victims to date are Berwyn, Haverford, Lansdowne, Darby, Cheltenham, and Abington. Today it meets its ancient rival Norristown on the latter's field and the fur is sure to fly from the opening whistle. Captain Perk Scott is the Ardmore team's chief battering ram, though the other backs, Peters, Mandes, Parks, have shown first-rate ability.

Episcopal Academy, champions of the inter-academic league last year, is yet undefeated. With only two more games on their schedule the chances of the churchmen annexing another championship are auspicious.

Lansdowne Was Fifth Victim of the Maroon

Lower Merion stowed away one of their toughest assignments of the year when they captured a 7 to 0 victory over Lansdowne at the latter's field on October 26. The break came late in the game after Lansdowne had withstood the Maroon's battering attack for most of three periods. A forward pass was intercepted by Al D'Amora, who tucked it under his arm and ran thirty yards for the winning touchdown. To make it a little more decisive, Warren Lockwood booted the goal.

Offside play in the first half robbed Lower Merion of another touchdown when Captain Scott went over the line only to be called back. The Ardmore team's defense against forward passes was noteworthy.

Dykes Inaugurates New Bowling House

Jimmy's Team Loses in Opening of Bryn Mawr Bowling and Billiard Palace.

The formal opening of the new Bryn Mawr Bowling and Billiard Palace at 646 Lancaster Avenue, Bryn Mawr, was celebrated on Monday night. The feature of the opening was a match between Jimmy Dykes' team and Reilly's squad of Eichelman, Russell, Martison and Greenwell. Dykes' team, composed of Mealy, Dilworth, Doyle, McKnitt and himself, lost three games to Reilly's men. Several high scores were made, including a 221 by Greenwell, 212 by McKnitt, 201 by Mealy and 217 by Russell.

It is expected that Dykes' all-star team, composed of Jimmy Dykes, Chief Bender, Steve Yerkes, George Earnshaw, Bing Miller and Mule Haas, will oppose a picked team of Main Line stars in the near future.

A league of teams from Haverford Township has already arranged for matches every Monday night. Several other leagues are in process of formation and it is expected that they will begin play in the near future. The management states that the use of the alleys by leagues will not shut out the occasional bowler as provisions are being made to accommodate them at all times.

Special matches of interest between Main Line and Philadelphia stars will be featured from time to time.

The Bryn Mawr Bowling Palace alleys of which there are fourteen is one of the most attractive in Philadelphia or the suburbs. Every convenience and comfort is offered the bowler, the establishment being equipped with a barber shop, lunchroom and ladies' rest room.

The manager, Walter Delany, formerly with the Colonial Alleys, Philadelphia, invites inspection of the plant, and guarantees an evening of pleasure and play. An instructor is on hand to assist beginners.

Cornell Student, Merion Resident, to Help Run Hotel

James R. Knipe, son of Dr. and Mrs. N. L. Knipe, of Baird Road, Merion, is among the Cornell students of hotel administration who will take complete charge of the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York for one day on November 11. This is a privilege extended only to juniors and seniors in the college and is a required part of their regular training.

Each year the students manage a hotel. Last year it was the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, where they received practical experience in hotel operation. This year the Pennsylvania was selected, and for one da the entire force of the hotel will change hands.

Knipe is a junior in the hotel management course at Cornell. He is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity and is actively engaged in athletics. He is a member of the varsity soccer, track, and fencing squads, and has played intercollege soccer, track, and basketball. In addition he is assistant manager of lacrosse.

Yes, We Deliver

Villanova College is still undefeated after nineteen starts in three years and tomorrow they face the team that last defeated them. The Stuhldreher outfit travels upstate to battle the Bucknell Bisons. With Gillespie slightly injured, the Villanova coaches have had to use second-string backs to fill in. This was no handicap, though, from the way they tore through the Oglethorpe line. Personally, we like this boy Birmingham. He looks like one of the best backs in the East to this writer, and if he sticks around college very long he may develop into a world-beater.

Oglethorpe was no set-up for Villanova, but it looks like they underestimated their opposition, and the Main Liners dropped them for a 17-to-7 verdict. The Stuhldreher gang will need two or three teams next year when they travel to Georgia in a return match. Those Georgians grow bigger and better teams every fall.

Aided by his nephew, Clyde C. Keesler, the Colonel, who is president of the Narberth Board of Trade, has laid in a stock of toys which he says is as complete and as moderately priced as can be found anywhere in the Philadelphia metropolitan shopping area.

How to Live Couple of Centuries Longer Is Told Neighborhood Club by Jay E. House

His philosophy of making life long and enjoyable was expounded by Jay Elmer House, conductor of The Public Ledger's "On Second Thought" column, at the October meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd Neighborhood Club, held in the Cynwyd Fire Hall recently.

"'What of it?' is my theme," he said. "Nothing of current happening matters, nor lasts long. . . . One of my favorite paragraphs is, 'Nothing is ever as bad as reported, except the flood,' and here lately I have been shaken about the flood.

"A man pointed out to me recently that twenty inches of rainfall a day is regarded as very heavy, and forty inches would be horriffic or something. Well, he went on, supposing forty inches of rain fell for each of the Deluge's reported forty days and nights. That would equal only about 135 feet, and there would still be plenty of hilltops and mountains standing out for people to climb. . . .

"When I was a young reporter, it was the time of the great crusade against cigarettes. They were supposed to be a great menace to youth—to sap youth and drag it down. Many boys where I lived—not far from Chicago—were reported to have been driven by the cigarette habit to institutions. My editor sent me out to see if there was any truth in these stories.

"I found that all that had happened to one boy was the measles; he did not smoke. A second boy reported ruined by the habit smoked all right, but nothing was the matter with him. The third case I investigated was a boy who had been sent to an institution as reported, but when I inquired why, people didn't know whether he smoked or not; all they knew was that he had always been a bit balmy.

". . ."The tariff was something that used to worry me a lot. I used to ride around the prairies when I was a young man, arguing about the tariff, and very much worried what would happen to the country if ever the Democrats got in and brought about Free Trade. But I've lived through Democratic administrations and they have never affected me.

"Then I worried about corporate power, and about the railroads dragging the country down, and people being reduced to abject slavery. But the railroads don't seem to be oppressing us at this time.

"As for 'crooked' politicians, I've known many, and I've been sure of the honesty of all but two. . . .

"Several ghosts used to frighten the people in the Illinois town where I lived as a boy of eight or nine years of age. It was a neighborhood infested by ghosts who included a giant clothed in black, a huge phantom dog, and an invisible horse whose hoof-beats could be heard at all hours. . . .Recently I visited the old home town, and was interested to learn none of the ghosts have haunted the place for years—people just stopped worrying about them, that's all.

"When we stop worrying about our ghosts they go away. We can greatly add to our span of life and our joy and comfort by not worrying, for instance, about the neighbors. . . . : We get along in life in proportion to the worrying we do and the trouble we take about things that don't concern us. If we free our minds of these things, it will be easy to live two or three hundred years more than the span of life that is allotted us"

Birthday of Guild Commemorated in Verse

The following poem, commemorating the silver anniversary of the Narberth Branch of the Needlework Guild of America, was composed by Robert H. Durbin for the occasion and was read at the meeting by Mrs. John Van Ness.

OUR SILVER ANNIVERSARY
(Narberth Needlework Guild)

May not our Narberth Guild rejoice, and do you not agree
That we should feel quite proud and hold a Silver Jubilee?
We're sure our Branch, in loyal spirit,
is excelled by none,
Our record tells of five and twenty years of work well done.

Our little band is only one of thousands in this land—
A mighty host of workers pledged to land a helping hand—
Yet we deserve to have today a party of our own,
To talk of small beginnings, and of how our branch has grown.
Just look upon the splendid stores of garments gathered here—
A great collection that will make this,
Narberth's banner year!
And picture in your minds the good these useful things will do,
To cheer the minds of many folks less fortunate than you!

Though very little lighter now each donor's purse may be,
On this our twenty-fifth, or Silver, Anniversary;
Think how a quarter century's contributions count
Up to a most effective and astonishing amount—
How vast when multiplied by all the donors we've enrolled!
But happily it all comes back to us a thousand-fold—
Just in the pleasant knowledge that each year's report imparts
Of comforts that our Branch has sent to countless homes and hearts!

Let us congratulate ourselves and thank our loyal friends
On whose unselfish service this noble cause depends.
This nationwide endeavor is the best proof one could find That big things are accomplished by the little things combined!
A million souls made happy—gratitude in every heart—
And Narberth Branch rejoices in having played its part!

So let's enjoy our birthday—the luncheon's very fine!
We've done our job, and done it well,
for nineteen twenty-nine!

R. H. D.

"Egg" Morris was again the Big Bertha as the Haverford team ground the Johns Hopkins eleven under its heel for a nice 32-to-8 victory.

J. Howard turned in nineteen points to make his total for the five games sixty-five points, which puts him second in the East in total points scored. Marsters, of Dartmouth, leads the field with over a hundred to his credit.

Johns Hopkins fooled the spectators by scoring early in the first period, taking advantage of a blocked punt. In the third period "Egg" got busy and, unaided, carried the pigskin for nineteen points.

A new ambulance makes 70 miles an hour. That should pick up a little business on the way to and from jobs.

TRIPPING the LIGHT FANTASTIC
Is a pleasure on a floor peculiarly adapted to it. Are the floors of your home just what you desire? If not, a thin floor can be laid over the present one with slight inconvenience, but many advantages. Life would be monotonous if we all liked the same things, but in the matter of flooring, you have the choice of the Cinderella of the Forest—"MAPLE" or the product of the sturdy "OAK."
A Maple floor need not be finished white, as penetrating stains are now being used effectively, giving you the choice of many colors that will bring out the real Maple beauty. If your preference is Oak, you may have the natural wood laid and finished afterward, or "Cromar," the finished floor may be put down and used immediately.
Our function is to see that you get a satisfactory floor, whichever you select. Let us measure your rooms and tell you how reasonable re-flooring will be.

The FIRESIDE

(By "E")

Quite a number of Hallowe'en parties were given by the younger folks this year, for besides those we mentioned last week several more have come to our attention. Newall and Billy Aiken, the sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Aiken, 406 Essex Avenue, gave a masked party Friday evening, when their guests were Anne Hagarty, Myrtle Hager, Norma Dorsey, Jean Paden, Mary Ohl, Helen Orr, Jerry Nash, Prudence Perry, Alfred Livingston, Jack Van Auken, Jack Staley, Richard Griffith, Walter Simon, Rodger Graham and Dickie Hopkins.

Friday night, also, Anna Maston, of Essex Avenue, gave a party to which ghosts, senoritas and clowns were invited. Her guests included Peggy Walzer, Rita Parke, Ernestine Wall, Dorsey Price, Tess Price, Peg Sammons, Joan Tilbury, Ruth Rodgers, Betty Race, Bob Maston, Billy Dorsey, Jack Haughey, Crozier Ludlow, Brent Anderson, Bill Wren, Warren Doyle, Bert Gosser, Francis Fanning, Bill Swann, Bill Wymer and Jimmy Murray.

Betty Green, who, you know, left this week with her parents to live in Chicago, and who has had several affairs in her honor, was the guest of honor at a luncheon and theatre party given Saturday afternoon by Miss Barbara Sutherland, of 440 Woodbine Avenue. The guests were Helen Staley, Anne Van Auken, Julia Moore and Margaret Nelson. Monday evening, Anne Van Auken entertained at two tables of bridge in honor of Betty and her guests were Kitty Timm, Helen Staley, Frances Parvin, Margaret Nelson, Julia Moore and Barbara Sutherland.

Miss Polly Palmquist, of Narbrook Park, entertained at a masked party last Thursday evening at her home.

Miss Susan Grebble Baker, of 411 Anthwyn Road, Narberth, is spending the week-end at Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Install New Legion Officers; See War Film; Hear District Commander

Officers recently elected by the Harold D. Speakman Post, No. 355, of the American Legion, were installed at the post's meeting held Monday night in the Narberth Community Building. They are commander, Arthur L. Cook; first vice commander, William Fretz; second vice commander, Frank Schrepfer; adjutant, John A. Mowrer, Jr.; finance officer, Roland Hewitt; executive committee: Harry Simpson, Perry Redifer, Tom Kerrigan, John Nash and Alan Schubert and the Rev. Robert E. Keighton, chaplain.

The officers were installed by William E. Zimmerman, of Lansdale, who is commander of the Ninth District of the Legion, embracing Bucks and Montgomery counties.

Commander Zimmerman, in a speech to the Legionnaires, told them the American Legion, Department of Pennsylvania, has, in accordance with the policy of the Legion throughout the United States, taken a great interest in Boy Scouts and the life of young men in the community. "The Legion has declared war on roadhouses," he declared, "because of their effect on young men who are not old enough to know better."

As part of Monday's program, five reels of motion pictures were shown, taken by the U. S. Army Signal Corps, of actual war scenes in which the army and navy engaged. Concluding the evening's entertainment, refreshments were served.

Adaptations of Two Novels Coming Next Week to Egyptian Theatre

"Wonder of Women," the Lewis Stone-Leila Hyams-Peggy Wood all-talking cinema scheduled for the Egyptian, Cynwyd, next Monday and Tuesday, is based on Herman Suderman's novel, "The Wife of Stephen Tromholt," which, like the "talkie" version, has won favorable criticism.

"Masquerade," which also features Leila Hyams, is based on L. J. Vance's novel, "The Brass Bowl." Making a brief but amusing appearance in it is Frank Richardson, who made a hit in the recent Fox Movietone Follies. "Masquerade" is scheduled for Cynwyd next Wednesday and Thursday.

Next Friday and Saturday will see two leading attractions at the Egyptian: "Words and Music," with Lois Moran and Tom Patricola, dancing stage favorite, and "Unaccustomed as We Are," the first talking picture of cinema's most popular comedy team—Laurel and Hardy.

W. A. PARKE THOMPSON

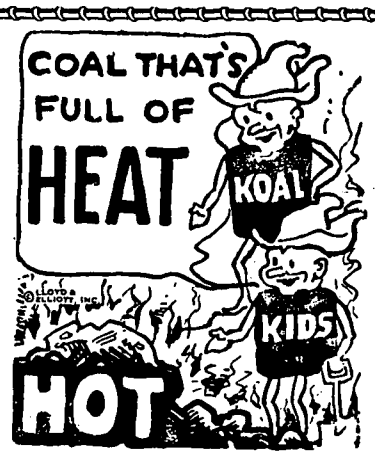

Hon. W. A. Parke Thompson, of Strathmere, N. J., passed away early on Monday morning at the home of his sister-in-law, Miss Nellie M. Wetherill, 200 Dudley Avenue, Narberth, where he had been ill for the last seven months. Mr. Thompson was well known to many Narberth residents, having been a frequent visitor here during the past twenty-eight years.

For many years Mr. Thompson was a contractor and builder in Coatesville, Pa., where he was a prominent figure in business and politics, serving at one time as burgess of the town and at another as representative from Chester County in the Pennsylvania Legislature. For twenty-five years he was president of the Washington Hose Company of Coatesville. Later he gave most of his time to assisting in the development of the seashore resort of Strathmere, at Corson's Inlet, New Jersey.

During the greater part of his life he was interested in antiques and curios, and had made collections of coins, jewels, minerals, Indian relics, weapons and birds. He was a member of Goddard Lodge, F. & A. M., Coatesville Royal Arch Chapter, Centennial Commandery, Knights Templar, Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of Coatesville, Hebron Lodge, I. O. O. F., Cochranville, Pa.; State Firemen's Association of Pennsylvania, and Strathmere Fire Company. He was a member of Strathmere M. E. Church.

Mr. Thompson is survived by his wife, Maude Wetherill Thompson, formerly of Narberth, and several nephews and nieces.

Services in charge of the Rev. Samuel MacAdam, of the Narberth Methodist Church, were held at the home of C. S. Wetherill, in Doylestown, Pa., and interment was in Doylestown Cemetery.

Stormy Weather and Stock Market Upsets Fail to Deter Welfare Workers; Contributions Near Quota

The stormy weather and heavy rains at the early part of the week have not dampened the ardor and energy of the 1500 workers for the Welfare Federation's campaign. During all the bad weather these good, energetic people might have been seen walking through the mud or driving over the slippery roads on their work of charity. This labor of love has been shown in the returns which are coming in now from all parts of the Main Line District.

While the quota for the Main Line territory has been increased, it is encouraging to those in charge to see progress day by day and it is their hope that the quota will be filled and that the Main Line as usual will go "over the top."

Last year it was the approaching Presidential election that seemed to interpose difficulties to the Welfare work, but notwithstanding this, the Main Line as usual came to the front. This year in the face of the serious financial upset in the Stock Market, the Main Line residents are showing their usual generosity and devotion to the work for the Welfare.

It is interesting to note that the children are aiding in the Welfare drive. Natalie Berlin, seven, of Haverford, who contributed one cent last year, voluntarily increased her donation to ten cents this year. Twenty boys and girls, from five to ten years old, who are being cared for at intervals at the Sunnyside Day Nursery, have raised a fund of ninety-six cents.

Up to Tuesday night a total of 3949 subscribers had contributed $345,542. Six hundred and forty-eight of the contributors have made gifts of more than $100.

Weird Party Staged at M. L. School of Music

Late in the afternoon of November 1, the Main Line School of Music was the scene of a weird party. By the light of grinning pumpkin faces, strange looking guests played games and competed for prizes. In the office, by a dim red light, a witch told fortunes which could be read only in a mirror.

The costumes were very effective, and the antics of the wearers as they capered about to the music of Debussy's "Golliwogg's Cakewalk," were extremely comical.

Prizes for the best costume went to the Dutch girl, Nancy Fahnestock, and for the funniest walk to the two old men, Linda Vogel and Gardner Flynn. Peggy Murray and Gardner Flynn also won prizes for pinning the tail on the donkey.

Horse Banquet Tomorrow

Horse lovers of the Main Line, members of the L. M. S. for the R. of S. H. and for the D. of H. T., will hold their organization's ninety-second annual banquet tomorrow, November 9. It will be held at 6 P. M. in Masonic Hall, Ardmore. President Luther C. Parsons, Cynwyd, expects 200 guests to be present.

New York has to go 120 miles out of the city for its water supply, which may or may not explain why so little of it is consumed there.
